Sir,

“GOING DUTCH”

Thank you for advocating libertarian Ditch-style legal reform to replace existing English authoritarian legislation. To that end I enclose a copy of my suggestions to the Deputy Prime Minister.

Prostitution law reform is urgent-as the recent murders of unprotected sex workers in Ipswich and Bradford illustrate. In addition clients need protection. Therefore Section 14: 53A (2) (b) and Section 15: 64A (2) (b) of the Policing & Crime Act 2009 (c26) should be repealed. They criminalise a person even if that person is unaware of exploitative conduct.

Yours,

E. Goodman
